I'm working on a fairly long project using Django 1.3, and I just ran into a problem that I don't feel is covered by the documentation. I have the following structure: /myapp /myapp/__init__.py /myapp/models/__init__.py /myapp/models/page.py /myapp/urls.py Now what I am trying to do is import model classes from one of myapps models in myapp's init.py. Currently, I am doing this: from myapp.models import Page I have tried doing this import myapp.models from myapp.models import Page However, Django throws an import error for models, since models is an empty module with no
