In fact, we suspect the inherent limitations of machine learning are what prohibit them from being truly advanceable to higher levels. And perhaps at these high level levels, there is no separation anymore between AI and human. An AI can think much smarter than we can. Imagine a machine that can look at a movie and tell us which actor played which part. A machine that can play a game almost better than humans can. A machine that can talk with another machine better than humans can. The deep learning revolution is right around the corner and you can be sure of it. Reflex A reflex is a response that comes naturally to a being. It is an internal response to stimulus, such as a pain in an arm or a sound in a hearing. The cause of the reflex will be one of the senses of the being. Sensory information is processed in the brain as reflexes. Image Credit: Google If you feel a prick, you have experienced a reflex. It will only take a second for the sensation to translate into a reflexive response to block pain. Consider reflex
