1. Key features: Scans all of your optical discs in the currently opened directories, searches for images or audio or video files, creates detailed meta information about music, audio and video files, stores disc scans and archiving in compact compressed formats. 2. Home page: 3. How to install it: To install the software, first add all the components to your PC. After installation CDOOffline will be created on the Start Menu. You can find the CDOOffline icon on the Start Menu on the Start Menu in the Computer folder and on the desktop. You can also add the CDOOffline icon to the Start Menu and to the desktop by creating shortcuts for this application. To run the application, click on the icon and it will start searching your discs automatically and create a new folder under the current directory. The application's interface will open and you can select the drive where all the CDs and DVDs are. To open an existing archive click on the CD icon, open the directory you want to open, select the files and click "Open archive". To close the application, click on the "X" icon in the upper left of the application's window. The software also offers a page with the details of your collections where you can create collections and edit their properties. You can export collections as ZIP, RAR and HTML archive formats. In the ZIP and RAR archives the files are stored in uncompressed format. In the HTML archive format the files are stored in the common XML format. You can also browse your collections from Internet browsers. You can drag-and-drop any collection from the main window to any browser page or to any folder on your PC. You can import all collections from the CDOOffline website. You can also create your own collections and create collections for audio and video files. The program allows you to index and filter your collections and to search for and delete unwanted files. You can also rename the files in the archive. There is no need to manually create directories on your discs before starting the application; you can also merge several drives into one "drive". The scanning speed is determined by the number of optical discs installed on the PC and the type of the optical disc. You can also customize the scanning settings in order to change the scan mode and exclude some subfolders from the scan. And you can exclude all files from
