The design of the game was heavily inspired by the Atari 2600 classic "Space Invaders". Space Invaders Space Invaders is the name of a video game, developed by Japanese video game company Taito in 1978, and first published as an arcade game by Namco in 1981. It is the first game to use scrolling sprites, giving the illusion that enemies are coming toward the player. It is also regarded as one of the most influential video games, for the "perfect marriage" of its simple design, individual player skill, and a catchy soundtrack. It is the fifth-best selling arcade game of all time, having grossed $4.6 billion in its lifetime. Space Invaders originated with the coin-

About Me Undergraduate, Ph.D. in Progress at the University of Kentucky. Currently, I am a Teaching Assistant Instructor at the University of Idaho and an artist for Deluxe, a Games Workshop-owned MMO corporation. I interned on the Dark elf difficulty at Bungie Chicago and have a lot of fun stories to tell. :) Tuesday, October 27, 2013 Just last week, I was bitten by a dog, and today, my two sons both have new orthodontic appliances and braces. The dog bite was over a week ago, and I was off until today. I was shopping and was crossing the street, and this dog attacked me. It was running alongside the crosswalk, but I was a few paces in front of it. I was in the middle of the crosswalk when it grabbed my arm and tugged. In a backward direction. Here's the thing-- I've been a bit miffed with dogs in general lately, watching Big Dog episode after Big Dog episode after Big Dog episode, and the shenanigans dogs' older siblings are pulling. One of my sons gave me the "You're no victim!" spiel, and I finally, FINALLY got mad. It was not a selfless act by either of them. They were helping me out just in case it turned violent and I needed their help. But they knew, they saw me walking the other way and, without asking first, they just slid under my arm and grabbed it with their jaws, like they had paid me for mine all along. I was a bit surprised at their actions, but I was also somewhat grateful. It will help in the future. It just won't be 2nd nature to them to help me. If they've been trapped and are held by a predator, they know it's not okay to just be "there," and they know it's time to fight! I wasn't sure if there would be any serious life-changes to a bite. I'd heard that my eyelids might need touching up. I didn't notice any in the 18 hours after. But the bite was in between the eyes, so my eyes could have an extra set of scars. That's one thing I'd hoped I wouldn't have to worry about. My dental/orthodontic issues have been scheduled for today. I'll be having ceramic braces put in. I'm not happy about it, but I can deal with it.
