Unexplored gameplay There is so much to like about this puzzle, good music, great storyline and wonderfully illustrated puzzles. I find the controls a bit off-centre though. I found I had to press on a piece to get it to fall, as the puzzle was sliding around, which was a little bit frustrating. A more consistent mechanism might make a big difference. 1 of 1 people found this review helpful Michael Bristol, United Kingdom 12/31/12 Overall Performance Story "An utterly fun puzzle" It's so easy to get addicted to this puzzle game. These puzzles are extremely varied and you can't help but try to see how you can solve them all. The graphics are lovely and there's a bit of a story line to go with it which makes it easier to understand the puzzles, no confusing parts like in most games. The music and sound effects just make the whole game even better and the gameplay is smooth, even though it is fairly simple. The only problem is that on level 4, the piece controls seem a bit wonky and it was hard to make the pieces fall onto the right position. Overall, a great little puzzle. 18 of 21 people found this review helpful Louise , UK 12/20/12 Overall "Really easy to play but very hard to beat" I love puzzle games and this is one of my favorites. I like the easy mode for older players but the puzzles are harder and more challenging as you advance, it just makes you play a little bit longer so you don't get frustrated. The graphics are great and the puzzles are quite challenging. If you enjoy puzzle games and love this kind of game, you will enjoy this. 31 of 36 people found this review helpful Libby Edinburgh, United Kingdom 12/11/12 Overall Performance Story "Good but

The game starts like pretty much any tower defense game, with the player specifying the towers that will defend the goal point (empty). However, once they have created their array of towers, they are in for one heck of a treat! The next stage is when real enemies appear, and they fall into 4 groups. Group one is the traditional gauntlet tower defense with the player having to defend against these non-tossable blobs by replenishing their shields. Group two are magic fairies. You have a shield on which changes color depending on which element you are attacking, and you must pop the shields of the fairies as they spawn by attacking them with one of the elements. This can be very difficult if the fairy's shield is already popped! Group three are the 'alien' invaders, these are the high-threat, gravity-defying robots which can destroy everything within their path! And lastly, group four are the bad guys I mentioned in the video description. These are the creatures which teleport around the level, attacking from all directions at once! Try and wipe them out before they get too close to the castle! If you like what you see, we'd appreciate it if you give us a thumbs up and share it around, it really does help! We hope you enjoy the game and will keep on coming back for more! Enjoy the game! ### What's new in Ticket To Ride: First Journey:

, Sharp Shootout and Bloodiest Fight In Royal Navy HMS Ganges, shelled off the Makin Island, after a battle with U.S. Navy Avenger, the destroyers USS Tord Ewin and USS Spence engaged the pirate with two depth charges, and a spread of machine-gun fire. Sixteen rounds of 5-inch cartridge were fired, seventeen hits registered. The Avenger was masterfully pressed by the destroyers and these two ships sank fifteen pirates with six dead. (Note: "navy" and "pirates" were literally happened to be the words used back then). Also operated by the Royal Navy, the Apache Seaplane tender, HMS Ratches, broke up the "stand off" depth charge attack upon the seven members of the Loran Ono gang who were caught operating the "Black Gang" and bringing the missing man over to the U.S. Naval Station. Ganges "Struck By 14.5-inch Shell" That same day, other Royal Navy ships, HMS Ganges, HMS Trade Queen, HMS Otter, and HMS Orpheus, were involved in the biggest naval battle since the Battle of the Falklands during the 19th century. Deep in the Makin or Great Barrier Reef waters, they engaged three pirate tri-motor bombers launched from a U.S. Navy Avenger in battle, and six members of the Meyerling Loran Ono Gun Gang in the three pirate 82-foot speed boats. As the naval battle began, Captain P.H. Parker of HMS Ganges said, "Are we receiving any comments from the warships that are with us?" U.S. Navy "Gangmasters" Loran Loran Ono, youngest of the eight members of the Meyerling Loran Ono Gun Gang, responded, "As far as we are concerned, if they can't survive alone without assistance, they were better off engaging us." U.S. Navy Prototypes When the pair of 82-foot speed boats from the U.S. Navy confronted the three pirate tri-motors, the Navy craft outnumbered the armed pirates three to one, but the pirates readily took defensive actions. The pirates, in their 82-foot speed boats, easily shifted to side craft, and one by one, they shouted that they were heavily armed and would like to fight
