There are many types of space-time-matter-energy-time-dimension game available on the market. However, we are the first company to create a game that features all five kinds of elements. And also, we added a novel element to the old-fashioned Mahjong-like game. Furthermore, we have added a new type of game mode, including a new scoring system and a surprise element of chance, to play Mahjong or Go-Stop. Like those games, it is also entertaining and easy to play. How to Play: The game works by using tiles having numbers in a grid. There are 2 kinds of tiles, Black and White, which are laid out in a 4x4 grid. An opening tile is moved to the next position of the 4x4 grid, and the 9 tiles below the opened tile are used to indicate the number as well as the column and row position of the opened tile. The sum of the number on the column or row makes 5, 10 or 20. When two tiles of the same kind and sum is touched, they merge together. When there is a White tile in front of a Black tile, there is some chance of a white tile being moved to the next tile. There are no Black tiles on the board. A merge takes place when two tiles of the same kind and sum touches each other. Let's move on to the special feature: There are two type of tiles, One is the one which have a 5, 10 or 20 at the top. Another one is the tile which have a white fish. When those two tiles are merged together, the tile become normal and has a number in the middle. The special tile remain as it is and have a white fish drawn at the top. When those two tiles touch, a huge fish will appear. The more tiles merged together, the bigger the fish. You get points when you touches a fish. We will show a better example of the above feature of the game. Entering the Coronavirus, the guest who has wrong number of tiles become the candidate. One of them gets the points by touches the fish. The more number of tiles that the candidate touches, the higher the chance of winning. Let's move on to the surprise element of chance: The tiles below the tile that you have to move to the next tile, indicates the chance of that tile to be a number tile or a special tile. For example, when you move the tile
