
STAR WARS Knights Of The Old Republic II Steam Edition Crack [2021]ed The Game

The Harbinger was sent out to find the exiled Jedi Meetra Surik. But the ship was intercepted by Sion, the leader of the Sith. Fleeing from the warship, Meetra and her companions made their way to Outbound Flight, a planet in the Alderaan system, whereupon their very existence was threatened by the Sith. They were saved once more, this time by Kae Darr, a scientist on Alderaan. Together they fled for their lives, keeping their true identities secret and meeting with a group of Jedi stranded on the Outer Rim world of Peragus II. Meeting with the Exile and her companions, Kae was invited back to Alderaan. Not knowing who these people were, however, she immediately agreed to help them -- and upon her arrival, she discovered that this same group had developed a machine that could restore the Force to the living! On Peragus, Sion was killed once again and the Harbinger captured once again by the Republic. Meetra and Kae decided to return to the Outer Rim to find another way to return to the Republic, whereupon Kae was taken to Alderaan. But Alderaan was under Sith attack and Kae watched as Alderaan was destroyed, but the Exile and her companions escaped. Together they traveled to Czerka Corporation, where Meetra made an alliance with Kel Dor and Czerka began to develop a new weapon that would allow them to go back to the Republic's ship and escape. They were there as Czerka tested their prototype weapon, but when it blew up, Meetra escaped. Meetra and her friends, Liara T'Soni, Dann, and Parja, were picked up by Kel Dor who carried them to the planet Rivnig, where they finally met the Exile and her companions. Together, they met with Jedi master Atris, and together, they began to formulate a plan to return to the Republic's ship and escape the Sith. However, there was no way for the Exile's group to return, so Meetra arranged a trade with Czerka for an escort. However, Czerka was infatuated with the weapon's destructive properties and seized the ship, leaving Meetra and her friends stranded on the surface of Rivnig. The weapon began to consume Czerka, and they could do nothing but watch as it destroyed the planet they had just escaped. But the Sith finally broke through the shield and boarded the ship. Meeting with Meetra and her friends, who had gotten to the control center before the crash and self destructed the ship, Czerka announced that they would have to win over Meetra to be able to save themselves. Meetra was already highly suspicious of Czerka and, as she had been trained by the Jedi, it was a test which she easily passed, but Czerka was not aware of that. Contacting Kel Dor, who had been captured by the Sith, Meetra and Dann secured him as a hostage so they could get back to their ship to escape the Sith before they destroyed it. But Meetra was disturbed by Parja's seeming possessiveness. Together, they began their journey to the Republic's ship, Parja trying to find something of value she could use as leverage for reuniting with her beloved while Meetra plotted to reunite the Republic with the Jedi. Once again, Meetra's exile was broken as she arrived in the Republic ship and was reunited with her friends.
