In addition to the terms of this Agreement to Arbitrate, you and we agree that arbitration is the proper method of resolving disputes and that any and all disputes or claims between you and us or our affiliates, whether arising out of or relating to your use of the PayPal services, shall be resolved exclusively by arbitration. This means any claim, dispute, or controversy between you and us or our affiliates that arises out of or relates to your use of the PayPal services or the relationship between you and us or our affiliates (our "Dispute"). In any such Dispute between you and us or our affiliates, the party who initially files the arbitration notice shall be the "Claimant", the party who responds to the arbitration notice shall be the "Respondent", and all acts of the arbitrator shall be deemed to be the acts of the Claimant or Respondent. Any claim brought by either you or us in a judicial or arbitral forum shall be limited to the resolution of a single claim per person and a single claim per transaction, regardless of the number of invoices, agreements, or other documents that you and we or our affiliates have executed or may execute. Notwithstanding the foregoing, either you or we may bring against the other any claim that you may have against us or our affiliates arising out of or relating to your use of the PayPal services which we have failed or refused to honor. In addition, nothing in this Agreement to Arbitrate shall be interpreted to limit our ability to file a claim against you or your affiliates in accordance with Sections 17500 and 17500.5 of the California Civil Code.
