The Problem My macbook pro has failed on me. It's about six months old, I've had it for about a year and a half, it's a white one, and it's a macbook pro. It will shut down just fine, but when I turn it on, it doesn't boot. Instead, it is completely unresponsive. The last thing it displays is a blank screen with a spinning disk. The keyboard doesn't work either. I can plug it into another macbook and it will just show a blank white screen, but when I open System Preferences and plug it in, it doesn't show up in the list of keyboard devices.
