“Our customer feedback helped inform what we saw as major additions to Photoshop,” said John Nackman, Adobe senior vice president, Applications Development. “Notably, if you’re a photographer, Graphic Designer or a hobbyist, Photoshop Elements gives you more features for a less-expensive price than our desktop app. The introductions of Share for Review and an expanded browser-based platform give our customers the ability to work side-by-side in Photoshop with the flexibility to go where they need to go.” Share for Review (beta) is a unique collaborative workspace that allows users to work on a project together, without leaving Photoshop. Collaboration is built right in to the application, rather than having to look to social media to share an alternate version of the same image. Share for Review gives you access to the same familiar Photoshop features and tools that you’re used to on all your other devices. You simply click Share for Review in the cloud and send the link to your desktop or smartphone. Users can view the full edit history and other shared changes.
