The version of Photoshop that you can see on the web today is based on the newest version of Photoshop that was released on May 20, 2020. In that version of Photoshop, the web browser graphics ability has matured to the point where the latest features can be ported to the web, and the PSD (Photoshop Drawing) file format can be opened fully in the browser. This includes the Gradient Fill tool which lets you create a nice, faded background effect of the color of your choice.
